Motorcycle ride up highway 1

Image: Shutterstock No one buys a motorcycle with his head. You buy one with your heart. It takes a special feeling of wanting to sit on what emergency doctors call donor cycles and cruising on the highway, even close to the speed limit. It is an activity for the brave and the inspired. There are no two riders exactly the same, and indeed the idea of customizing a motorcycle is as old as the bikes themselves. Some people prefer a Harley-Davidson off the rack, while others prefer an Indian custom Larry or a crotch rocket with all the body torn off. Even old school European brands have taken on this point, with BMW and Ducati offering street-fighter-style motorcycles in addition to their more traditional boy-runner models. But how can you choose? There are so many ways to go! Do not worry. We made it easy for you. We've developed a quiz that will sort out your tastes, what you're physically willing to accept, and what you're willing to spend time doing, and we're sure it will accurately predict what pork is right for you.
